“ My husband and I were welcomed to the neighborhood by Jr while walking down Tanglewood in 2007, where Jr. and Irene live. Over many years and many conversations we exchanged town historical memories that Jr. and Irene could recount from memory. We knew some of the San Luis history due to family having lived here before, but someone should have interviewed Jr. for his phenomenal memory of the local history. He and Irene are pillars of friendship, conversation, and just downright kindness in the neighborhood. Jr. will be missed, and Irene will have to take up his place in the visiting with us in the driveway. Life will then be complete in the neighborhood. What exceptional folks they both are.

Blessings also to the children, especially Kenny, whom we have known for his work and gentle and friendly manners. It has been a good run in the area and Jr. was an icon of stories and laughter in our corner of the city.

love, Dia and Chris Hurd,
