“ We met Barbara and Mel the day they walked onto the Cal Poly tennis courts and joined the Surfside Tennis Club recreational play Saturday mornings. From there we became friends who together enjoyed club gatherings, musical events, dinners, movies, holiday luncheons and home visits. These last years since Mel left us, we have not seen Barbara as often as we'd like. We'll miss her wealth of artistic talents, her enthusiasm for life, the joys of her friendship. Our heartfelt sympathy goes out to her family.

“ Rarely are great friendships made in public restrooms, but that's exactly where my friendship with Barbara began. One minute I was passing tissue under the door, the next we were sharing lipgloss and life stories. I'm so grateful for the few years of friendship we shared, and my husband Jason and I have wonderful memories of the times our twin daughters spent with their 'honorary grandmother'. To us she was, and always will be, Nanny B.

Deepest condolences to those that loved her, especially her sons of whom she was so proud. I hope that you will take comfort in the support and sympathy of all those that miss her, and in the knowledge that she was so loved by so many.

“ Barbara set an example for all of us in living joyously and dying gracefully. It was such an honor to call her my friend.

“ Barbara called me her "newest" friend. We shared a short time here on earth, and I'm honored to have had those moments. A dear and beautiful soul. Blessed to have know her.im drumming for her, as she requested!

“ What a wonderful gift it has been knowing Barbara for over 20 years. She has truly been an inspiration and a true friend. We sang and laughed together, potlucked and devoured every season of "Downton Abbey" together. We celebrated each other's stories and good news and we helped each other correct course when we were off kilter. She was an easy friend to love. I will miss her beautiful spirited creative sparkle in my town, but I have seen it in her children's eyes, so thank goodness, it carries on. Love and blessings to all of Barbara's family.
