“ Avó will be greatly missed. Growing up we'd spend a time at her house in the summers, playing 'school' or 'shop keeper', I loved looking at old photo albums of their travels and learning about the Azores islands from placemats! ”

“ My Mom would say her sister Edra didn't ever get really mad, which was true. Mom would also add that Aunt Edra frequently said when we lived next door during my pesky boyhood, "Michael Oliveira, do you want to be the first man on the Moon without a rocket?" (while swinging her arm around to punch me all the way there). Oh, the things I did back then. I love you, GodMother. Your ready smile and gentle laugh always showed me and everyone who knew you that Christ's love flowed through you every minute of your life. May you Rest in Peace, and may God Bless all our families who are missing you now. ”
