“ Lance we had so many fun times hauling cars, hanging out, working on the fishing boat, and playing with the kids when they were little. We laughed at each other, had serious conversations and even cried a few times together. Our hearts are broken, our love and prayers are with Trish and the kids. One day we will see you again and we look forward to giving you a big hug. And for old times sake, I'll smack you in the arm for something you said. We love you all. 💔
💖 as broken as we feel, knowing you are in a better place brings a glimmer of healing the brokenness. ❤️
