“ So many memories,even 44 yrs is not long enough now that your gone..I said I would be ok as you took your last breath, but find that that's not true,your suffering was more then I could bear,but I find myself listening in the dark trying to hear you breathing,I reach out to grasp your hand in mine,as you would tell me,"everything thing is going to be alright in comfort....only Lord knows how unprepared I was to let you go..our children are hurting and I so try to help but cant get beyond the emotions and emptiness of you not being here. I so remember the first day I saw you at 17 yrs of age my heart told me then that you were the one for me, we have had so many ups and downs and rose above it all. At the end of the day we were there for each other. My love for you is beyond measure. You were and always will be my knight in shining armor. I love you Mike and know we will be together once again

“ Words can not express the saddness your passing has created. We love you and miss you so much. I will always have the memories but it is just not the same. You left too early. We will never be the same without you. Walk with my sahara and know we miss and love you so much.

“ Mike you have been my rock for 17 years at work. Your laughter and phone conversations will be missed. One less Green Jacket here on earth, I know you will be looking out for your family and those of us you left behind. Rest easy my Friend.

He text me this a few weeks ago & was was concerned about how Robert & I were doing. I was happy to have that last conversation with him because I told him how much we loved him & for him to get better, he said "that's always nice to hear in our old age, I love you guys too". We're already missing you Ol'man.

“ Father how can we express the way we feel in words. Friend, Teacher, Man of honor. How can we share the love you brought to our lives. I am at a loss to express the hole in my life today. To hear you say one more time "Hey Bird" I would give up anything. The memories I will take with me, your embrace and unconditional love I will always cherish. You left an imprint on all that you came in contact with, Friends Family you made all of us feel special to know you. You raised many kids taught us to do what was right Work hard and to always look out for the little guy. No man I know can take your place. I will forever honor you with my life and never forget the man you made me into. It is not goodbye its see you later...

“ You've been my brother for 44 years. We've shared so many stories of you this past week & every one of them left us laughing. You were a master of conversation & had a way of saying things to people & walking away laughing because it took them a minute to realize what just went down. My son & nephews & niece are more brothers & sister than cousins & to sit & listen to them together this past week, you'll be proud to know the apple didnt fall far from the tree! Lol . The loss of your presence will be insurmountable and it will definitely be alot more quiet without you around. We love you brother, more than you realized. RIP & watch over the kids & my sister & thank you for all you did for each one of us.
