

Nicholas John Safonov

July 17, 1950 - January 2, 2018

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

“ I was a good friend of Nick’s. I just found out that he passed. I really loved him. Can you tell me how he died please? He was a gentle spirit with too much Burden.

cindy - September 14, 2020 at 03:34 AM

*“ He was a little pistol. Brilliant, and always looking for answers. Even as a baby he refused to be confined either physically or mentally. One day when he was maybe a year old he wasn’t interested in napping and he wanted out of his crib. He stood up and rocked himself back and forth, and the crib moved inch by inch until it eventually blocked the door to his bedroom. Mom had to climb up on the balcony and break into his room to rescue him. Toward the end of his life he designed a system to harness the power of waves into electricity. He always marched to the beat of his own drummer. He loved nature, the beach, the ocean, and enjoyed having the time and the freedom to create. Now you are truly free to dance through the heavens for eternity. I love you, little brother. See you in a few.
Michele Safonov Dawn*

Michele Dawn - January 15, 2018 at 03:08 PM

The mind heals before the heart. Be patient with yourself old friend and take comfort remembering all the best. Love Bernie

b reppucci - January 15, 2018 at 04:30 PM

Dearest Michele and Michael~Jill just sent me an email that she read Nicky died in 2018. Breaks my heart. Holding Nicky, you and your respective families in my thoughts and heart. What about Gregory? Are you in touch with him?

Lee Glenn - February 24, 2021 at 11:59 AM