“ You can't put a smile or my aunt Celeste Brooks under a microscope.

She met my uncle Kenny at the rollercoaster rink in Glendale 1953.

They were skater daters ever since: marriage and 3 children.

However she took a brief moratorium alone with her sister Elaine: many tours through Europe.

She and my uncle created Brooks Woodcraft in San Luis Obispo during the early sixties which is to this day a chief cornerstone for custom handmade furniture.

It was a long goodbye with Alzheimer's disease.

The Brooks clan modeled a good team operation headed by Betsy 24 hr companion rescue dog.

Celeste lived as she died retaining her sense of humor and singing through it all at Brooks woodcraft until her last days

My heart is with the Brooks family in their grief
