“ Bobby was my closest cousin growing up. He was 4 yrs older than me and I looked up to him as a brother. I would spend weekends visiting him. We played like best friends; camping in the backyard, taking hikes, playing with his friends and jumping on the bed playing Goliath(Bobby) and Samson (me) I always lost. When we spoke on the phone He always reminded me of the times we spent watching and singing to Mitch Miller “ the bouncing ball” on our black and white TV. And how sad he felt when he heard that we were moving away. When he came to visit in PR I taught him how to dance Salsa, we went to the beach and he pretended that he was going to teach me how to surf but it was all a joke: as he had me trying to swim out against the current and I paddled in the same place...Sometimes, He would call just to remind me that he loved me.

Bobby had a huge and caring heart. His last visit: he jumped in to help us renovate a shower in my son's newly bought home, we made pasteles together. He was only interested in spending time with us.

I love Bobby! We have shared many memories together and I will hold them in my heart.
